Riverfront Area Overview

Opportunities and Constraints

Opportunities

- Over 35 acres of developable land
- Adjacent to Harbor Park & downtown
- RT 9 visibility
- Railroad
- Large tidal wetland
- Railroad
- Over 2,500 feet of waterfront
- Areas A, C, D large parcels one owner

Constraints

- Access
- Dredging
- Floodplain
- Environmental contamination
- Railroad
- Adjacent public housing
- Need to assemble parcels in Area B

Develop a Vision and Plan

General Waterfront Smart Growth Principles

- Mix land uses, including water-department uses
- Take advantage of compact community design that enhances, preserves, and provides access to waterfront resources
- Provide a range of housing opportunities and choices to meet the needs of both seasonal and permanent residents
- Create walkable communities with physical and visual access to and along the waterfront for public use
- Foster distinctive, attractive communities with a strong sense of place that capitalizes on the waterfronts heritage
- Preserve open space, farmland, natural beauty, and critical environmental areas that characterize and support coastal and waterfront communities
- Strengthen and direct development toward existing communities and encourage waterfront revitalization
- Provides a variety of land-and water-based transportation options
- Make development decisions predictable, fair, and cost effective through consistent policies and coordinated permitting processes
- Encourage community and stakeholder collaboration in development decisions, ensuring that public interests in and rights of access to the waterfront and coastal waters are upheld
- Sustainability

 Riverfront Planning workshop at Long Hill Estate - April 1st, 2000

Underlying Principles from Year 2000 Planning workshop

- Keep development at an appropriate scale complement the adjacent neighborhoods.
- Use circulation patterns, land development, and design elements to strengthen the downtown and the riverfront area.
- Always focus on the River. Assess development proposals on the basis of their impact upon the river and the riverfront area.
- Incorporate pedestrian orientation into street, sidewalk and building design.
- Provide multiple points of access pedestrian, vehicular and visual to the River.
- Protect and enhance views of the river work with Portland to provide mutual scenic protections for the riverfront areas.
- Concentrate open space and active recreational uses along the riverfront.
- Establish a significant water-related use such as small marina or a series of docks in the riverfront area.
- Use railroad as an asset establish a tourist attraction around it.
- Remove sewage treatment plant from area.
- Establish commercial uses that will complement, not take away from, downtown retail.

- Mixed use its well recognized that single use Euclidean zoning is not sustainable and therefore the new Riverfront Zone will encourage/require mixed use zoning to create places where people can live, work, shop and play and not be dependent on the automobile.
- Protection of View corridors the way to preserve and enhance property values and create a successful living environment is to maintain and create as many views of the river as possible.
- Natural systems as discussed zoning will seek to preserve unique undeveloped natural systems.
- Encourage/require Water dependent uses so as to avoid competition with other commercial areas zoning will establish water dependent / water related uses. For instance a burger shop might not be allowed while a clam or shad shack would be allowed or a canoe / kayak shop would be allowed before a bike shop.
- Environmentally Sustainable in the year 2000 little was discussed about creating sustainable development. Now it is the norm. The zone will talk about reduce, reuse, recycle, LEED and LEED ND certification, green buildings, green roofs, solar panels, geothermal heating, energy efficiency, water conservation and the overall carbon footprint.
- Permeable considering its proximity to the Connecticut River, this consideration is of utmost importance. New development will need to display permeability in its design of required hardscapes and low impact design which promotes water quality. There will be no room for excessive pavement.
- Dynamic, creative and financially sustainable coming out of the current economic downturn developers and investors will be very selective about where they invest. Middletown will have to create a dynamic and creative investment opportunity that provides a sufficient return on investment in order to attract those dollars.

Elements of a Vision

- Relocated treatment plant;
- Environmentally stable and usable properties;
- Hotel / Conference Center;
- Marina;
- Boat Launch;
- Convention Center;
- Major Tourist Attraction;
- Train Station;
- Expanded Harbor Park;
- Expanded boardwalk;
- Sites for Corporate Offices;
- New "Village" Type Residential;
- Mixed use Riverfront development (high end residential condos and shops)
- Bike and pedestrian access from downtown;
- Potential inner harbor area.

Next steps

Public Investment to Attract Private Investment. Address the Constraints

- Mayor establish a waterfront planning group; DONE
- Council establish building committee for sewer plant project; DONE
- Planning group facilitate a highly public process, web site, social media, meetings, site walks, etc; Goal - Involve as many residents as possible to get the most ideas
- Build off of results of Year 2000 Riverfront Planning workshop;
- Public process will lead to development of a Vision for the area,
- Retain services of a planning/landscape architecture firm to design a premier waterfront park on city property;

Next Steps

- Coordinate OMO Superfund cleanup with EPA to help achieve the Vision for that parcel;
- Establish zoning regulations and design guidelines to promote private development consistent with the public vision for the area;
- Begin a dialogue with Valley Railroad, CT DOT and CT DEEP regarding extension to Middletown;
- Investigate dredging outside of channel to establish boat launch, docks and marina
- Improve access
- Be prepared in 2015 for significant public investment
